ON MEXICAN POLICYSENATOR WORKS OF CALIFORNIA
CRITICISES ADMINISTRATION
IN CAUSTIC SPEECH.TIME FOR ACTION NEARRefers to Relations of United States to Mexico As "Dark Page in Our History" and Urges More Decisive Methods.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, March 6.—Predicting that the Mexican situation is a matter with which the United States "shall be forced to deal in some decisive way, and that very soon," Senator Works, republican, of California, sharply criticised the Mexican policy of the administration today in a speech in the senate.

"We may be forced yet," he said, "to intervene in some form in Mexico. If we do, it should not be for the aggrandizement of our country, the acquisition of territory, or any other advantage to us, but in the interest of the Mexican people and others resident there, the restoration of peace and order and the establishment of a stable government for our sister republic."

Dark Page of History.

To speak of the relations of the United States with Mexico, Senator Works asserted was an unpleasant task.

"It is a dark page in our history," he continued. "Unless the American people shall have lost all vitality, courage and patriotism, it will be read in the years to come, with sorrow and shame. For three long years American citizens have been murdered, their wives and daughters outraged, their homes pillaged, and their property destroyed, and this administration has done nothing more than to enter occasional mild protests and submissive appeals, and to whom? To Huerta, whose government we had refused to recognize, and who, according to our view, had no power nor authority to act. To Villa, not recognized as a belligerent; not even a soldier, but a brigand and murderer of innocent people. To Carranza, a weakling dominated by Villa, and equally without authority. What had we a right to expect from protests and appeals made to such as these?"

Senator Works outlined the events in the history of Mexico, leading up to the present difficulties and the refusal of the government to recognize Huerta after the assassination of Madero "doubtless by Huerta, who succeeded him, or with his knowledge and connivance." After the withdrawal of Ambassador Wilson from Mexico, Senator Works declared, referring to the sending of John Lind to Mexico City, there "commenced a series of conduct of a kind wholly unknown to diplomacy and so absurd as to make us ridiculous at home and abroad."

Criticises Wilson Policy.

The demand of the president in his message to Huerta that there should be an armistice, could not have been complied with, the senator continued, and the demand for security was given for an election in Mexico was impossible of fulfillment because of the ignorance of the Mexican masses.

Such an election, he declared, probably would have brought about the "election of a bull fighter for president."

"Naturally Huerta refused to consider these proposals," continued the senator. "What else could have been expected? His refusal put our government in a most unfortunate position. It could not enforce its demands. It might go to war, but the refusal to comply with the demands could furnish no justification for declaring war, because we had no right to make them. So we had to submit tamely to the position of Huerta, bear his derision and sneers of the Mexican people and the indulgent smiles of all the nations of the world. And, Sir, whatever may be said of Huerta in other respects—and I have no disposition to defend him—he did bear himself with courage, wisdom and moderation in this whole matter."

British Subject Killed.

At last a prominent British subject was brutally murdered by Villa or by his orders. Public indignation ran high. The people were aroused but the state department maintained its usual degree of composure. I do not know why the murder of a citizen of Great Britain should have created more feeling than the assassination of hundreds of our own people, except that we have assumed to be the protector of the citizens and subjects of all other nations and insisted that such nations should leave this city and responsibility to us. It therefore involves the question of our good faith toward other nations when we allow their people to be slaughtered in Mexico.

"This case was one to put our good faith and our courage to the test. The poor widow asked for the body of her dead husband, buried on Mexican soil. What did our government do to secure this right? It timidly petitioned Villa, his murderer, to allow his remains to be removed. The state department spent days in trying to find out whether this man was shot by Villa, or shot to death by order of drumhead court martial, called not by a soldier, not by a belligerent, but by a brigand and professional murderer. What possible difference does it make whether he lost his life one way or the other? For this the sorrowing widow was left waiting for her dead. What should have the government done in the case? Just what it should have done for one of its own citizens—sent our soldiers into Mexico and brought out the body."

Advice to Alpine Climbers.
In the earlier part of the nineteenth century many even of those who had been up Alpine peaks themselves denounced the sport. Regarding the ascent of Mount Blanc, Murray's Handbook in the year 1838 stated that "all who have succeeded have advised no one to attempt it," and nearly 20 years later noted the "remarkable fact that a large proportion of those who have made this ascent have been persons of unsound mind."

New England Romance.
From Boston comes the story of a touching phonograph romance. The manager of a store became infatuated with the voice of a young woman whose singing he heard reproduced frequently in the machines, wrote to her for her pictures, and the acquaintance speedily ripened into marriage. The bride, by the way, was intending to study in Paris for grand opera, but has decided to settle down in New England—San Francisco Argonaut.

HAS STATE ACCEDED TO COUNTY'S CLAIM?

DUNWIDDIE RECEIVES WORD WORD FROM MADISON WHICH LEADS TO THAT CONCLUSION.

CASE NOW WITH CITY

State Will Not Contest Mandamus Suit But Will Pay $3,000, Cost of Janesville Reassessment, to Rock County.

Word was received from Madison to-day by District Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie which indicates that the state was disposed to settle at once with Rock county over the matter of the charge for the Janesville reassessment, the cost of which will interest on the sum was withheld last fall from auto license money due to Rock county from the state treasurer.

Last month Mr. Dunwiddie, under instructions of the county board of supervisors, filed a suit in the Dane county circuit court asking for a writ of mandamus against the state treasurer ordering him to pay over the amount withheld. The state was given until March 5 to file a brief in answer but Mr. Dunwiddie received no copy of such document and his inquiry at the attorney general's office over long distance phone today received the information that the state was ready to accede to the county's demands and that the county might expect a draft for $3,000 covering the entire sum within a few days.

The presumption is that the Attorney General recognizes the soundness of the position taken by Mr. Dunwiddie, which was that the debt was a matter entirely between the city of Janesville and the state, and that the county was entirely an outside party to the case. The county had done its duty when it attempted to collect the money from the city a year ago when the item was included on the state tax levy as a special charge against the city of Janesville. The city at that time refused to pay to and the county treasurer in making his returns to Madison filed affidavits to that effect. Mr. Dunwiddie held that the county's concern in the matter ceased at that point.

Just what will be the outcome of the case as far as the state and city concerned it is difficult to say, although it is likely that the state will take some steps to enforce collection.

It is understood that the attitude of city officials still remains the same on the proposition and that they are as indisposed as ever to stand for the cost of the proceedings.

FATHER GOEBEL IS PLAINTIFF IN SUIT

Pastor of St. Mary's Church Seeks Damages from City and Janesville Traction Company.

The Rev. W. A. Goebel, pastor of St. Mary's church, is plaintiff in a law suit now on trial before a jury in the circuit court in which he seeks to recover damages for injuries which occurred when the automobile which he was driving collided with a car of the Janesville Traction Company at the foot of the Beloit avenue hill on Oct. 8, 1913. The city of Janesville, whose negligence in caring for the street is alleged to have been partly responsible for the accident, is made one of the defendants.

After the jury was drawn this morning the court at the request of counsel ordered a recess for the purpose of making a trip of inspection to the scene of the accident. Father Goebel was the first witness called on the return to the court room. He recited the circumstances leading up to the crash and stated that in an attempt to pass a rig he turned his motor into the street car track. When he saw the approaching car he attempted to turn out but as the track had not been filled the wheels of his car were held inside the rails and he could not prevent a collision, although he claims he signalled to the motorist to stop.

Mrs. Kate Perkins and Miss Lillian Bonnemeyer who were in the automobile with Father Goebel at the time of the accident, were both thrown out and badly hurt, although the Rev. Goebel suffered the more serious injuries. The two women had each filed separate suits which cannot be tried at this term of court, however. Their outcome will depend much on the result of the present case.

Chas. E. Pierce and E. H. Ryan are the attorneys for Father Goebel. Thomas S. Nolan represents the street car company and W. H. Dougherty the city of Janesville. It will require the remainder of this afternoon and possibly a part of tomorrow morning to complete the testimony.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO CONVENE TONIGHT

Last Number Will Be Reading of 4th and 5th Acts From "The Rivals" —Will Discuss Play.

The regular weekly meeting of the Janesville Dramatic Society will convene tonight in the council chamber of the city hall building. The program is to be most interesting, and the entire membership is expected to attend tonight. Refreshed from passing the entrance inspection last Friday night, at the immigration social, many of the members are doubly anxious to get into the swim, and to make the meetings in the future real live ones.

The program for tonight is to be as follows:

1. Dramatic News, from members of the club.
2. Mary Anderson, by Kate Nelson.
3. John T. Raymond, by Frank Doane.
4. Jefferson's "Bob Acres," by Charles Noyes.
5. The All Star Cast of "The Rivals," Lenore Crawford.
6. Reading of fourth and fifth acts of "The Rivals," picked cast.
7. Discussion of the play, lead by C. E. Moore.

SENDS OUT REPORT BLANKS TO TEACHERS OF COUNTY

Also Notices That Teachers' Examinations Will Be Held on March 13 and 14.

Superintendent O. D. Antisdell sent to the rural teachers of the county today the annual report blanks, two to each teacher, one of which must be filled out and filed with the county superintendent and the other with the clerk of the school district. After the district clerks made out reports, which deal extensively with the ages and attendance records of the pupils, but as there was much detailed work involved with which the teacher was more familiar, the work has been transferred to the teachers. The entire blank has been rearranged so that all the information required may be given in the one report.

Mr. Antisdell also sent out notices to the rural teachers that the teachers' examinations will be held next week Friday and Saturday, instead of March 20 and 21, which dates would conflict with the Rock county Teachers' Association convention.

MISS ELLA WEBER WEDS BELUIT MAN WEDNESDAY; WILL RESIDE IN BELUIT

Miss Ella Weber of Janesville, was united in marriage to Albert Genrich of Beloit, at eight o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of the groom's parents, 129 Sixth street, Beloit. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Theodore Bretschneider.

Miss Weber's gown was of blue charmeuse and she carried a bouquet of carnations. Miss Louise Genrich, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid, and Fred Brandt, of Stetsonville, Wisconsin, best man. Mr. and Mrs. Genrich are to reside at 1191 Sixth street in Beloit. The bride was well known and popular in this city, and was employed in the overall factory. Mr. Genrich is employed with the Fairbanks Morse company as an electrician.

THE TRAFFIC MANAGEMENT SUES WAUKEGAN OFFICIALS

Two damage suits aggregating $50,000 have been filed in the federal court of Chicago against Mayor Bedinger, the council and the city of Waukegan, Ill., by Edward L. Drew in behalf of the "Traffic," the much discussed play which was presented at the Myers theatre two evenings last week, and against Col. Bill Thompson, lessee and manager of the Waukegan theatre. In separate petitions, each demands the sum of $25,000. Mayor Bedinger admits that he never witnessed the performance. The complaint charges that he misrepresented, libeled and damaged the reputation and value of the production as a property, and by this means influenced his aldermen to exclude "The Traffic" from the Waukegan theatre, thereby inuring the prejudiced hostility of other cities and towns against the property.

During the month of February dental inspections were made among students in the Adams, Grant, Jefferson, Webster and Douglass schools, and during this time 1,249 examinations were made by those in charge of the inspection work.

The report of Miss Agnes C. Anderson, visiting nurse, shows that during the past month there were a total of thirty-one cases of new cases, twenty-five old and eight new ones.

The new cases were as follows: three cases of pneumonia, two tonsils, one undiagnosed, three of the cases were dismissed as recovered, one was

Hank O'Day, when asked why in the world he wanted to manage the club, declared that he would try anything once. And Hank has always shown himself to be a true sportsman.

Regarding the prevalent query as to whether or not the Federal league is a major league you may overhear this conversation between Dave Fultz, ball players' attorney, and Joe Tucker: "Do you consider that the Pels are a big league?" asked Dave of Joe. "We pay big league salaries to big league players in big league towns," replied Joe, promptly. "Don't you call that rather big lagniappe?" "Do you think you have any clubs as strong as the Athletics or the Giants?" again asked Fultz. "No, we but pay 'em a good bit stronger than the Browns, Reds or Cardinals," was Joe's prompt rejoinder.

Johnny Kilbane, displeased that some should consider him lacking with the punch, set about building up a rep as a hard hitter. And he did so to the satisfaction of his most captious critics. He put over a number of K. C.'s against some of the best boys in his class and all but beat the breath out of several others. However, in doing so he has injured his hands. Kilbane's two mitts have been put to some very hard usage of late and they have now reached the point where they will have to be given quite a little attention. One of them is out of the running altogether temporarily and the other is too strong. Kilbane has been swinging his mitts in a manner too vigorous to be continued very long. Johnny, like a number of other pugs, has surprisingly trial and ladylike dukes. From one view of them it

HIGH FIVE PLAYED FIRST GAME TODAY AGAINST STOUGHTON

Janesville Quintet Draws Bye Number Yesterday and Are Left Over.—Other Scores.

Final: Janesville, 21; Stoughton, 6.

The Janesville high school basketball quintet was scheduled to play Stoughton this afternoon at one unit in the Beloit college tourney. At nine o'clock tonight they will buckle up against the Waukesha high. Coach Curtis drew the bye number yesterday which caused the locals to wait until today for their first game.

The Beloit Tournament started Thursday. At two o'clock the college management asked for one representative from each school entered to draw for places. Janesville were lucky at first, for they were relieved of playing yesterday through picking the ticket number eleven. Now they play four games in two days. The other teams are the number in which they draw are: Stoughton, 1; Elkhorn, 2; Edgerton, 3; Evansville, 4; Beloit, 5; Delavan, 6; Lake Geneva, 7; Woodstock, 8; Platteville, 9; and Waukesha, 10.

Following the drawings Manager Burns state that teams drawing numbers one and two would play first, three and four next, and so on throughout the list. Out of the teams but one forfeit was given, that of Delavan to Beloit. The Beloit five will play Woodstock today. Delavan forfeited because their entire team had recently been vaccinated and two of the players were in bed as the result.

Elkhorn-Stoughton.
Teams one and two, namely Stoughton and Elkhorn, were billed for the first clash to be played at three o'clock. Elkhorn were last in arriving, and it was four before the teams met. A fair-sized crowd witnessed the fracas. Stoughton were picked as winners, but were out-classed from the very start. The score was 19 to 9. The game was not good basketball, and was not a good opening for a tourney. Elkhorn had everything their own way. The lineups and score was as follows:

Elkhorn—Hoffman, 1, f.; Dooley, r.; Oli, c.; Potter, l. g.; James, r. g.; Lyon, l. i.

Stoughton—L. Olson, 1, f.; W. Sullivan, r. f.; Jerdee, c.; Elkin, l. g.; Hudson, r. g.

Baskets—Dooley, 4; Oli, 2; James, Lyon, Sullivan, 2; Jerdee, Elkin. Free Throws—Dooley, 3; Jerdee, 1. Time of Halves—20 minutes. Referee—Ward, Beloit College. Umpire—Edler, Beloit College.

Edgerton-Evansville.

The second game of the afternoon was played between Edgerton and Evansville. The former won, 40 to 20. Evansville had no fight in them, and played a poorer game than they exhibited against Janesville last Saturday night. Edgerton were lost on the big floor. McIntosh, the mighty Edgerton center, as he is called, scored five times, but he was slow. The lineups and score was as follows:

Edgerton—Sutton, 1, f.; Whittet, r. f.; McIntosh, c.; Johnson, l. g.; Brown, r. g.

Evansville—Durner, 1, f.; Cain, r. f.; Wilder, c.; Capt. Jones, l. g.; Stewart, r. g.

Baskets—Sutton, 6; McIntosh, 5; Whittet, 3; Johnson, 2; Brown, 2; Durner, 4; Cain, 3; Wilder, 2. Free Throws—Sutton, 2; McIntosh, 2; Wilder, 2.

Time of Halves—15 minutes. Referee—Edler, Beloit College. Umpire—Ward, Beloit College.

Globe Trotters Will be Given Big Celebration on Arrival in New York.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, March 6.—As far as the eye could reach no sign of Federal raiders could be seen on today's horizon. The Big Town awoke today to find that the globe trotting Giants and White Sox baseball players were rousing, if not at formal, a welcome accorded to Admiral Dewey in honor of the latter's batting and fielding average in the Spanish-American series of 1898.

After "showing 'em how" in Australia, Japan, China, Rome, Paris, London, and other minor league countries and towns, the big leaguers were expected to land in New York today. To bear him tell it himself, it had been ever since he first learned to walk, and that was a while ago, he says. As an amateur he won the title in three classes in Australia the light, middle and heavy. Also, he figured in the Olympic games in 1908 in England, entering the swimming, diving and boxing events. On one occasion in London he boxed four men in one day. Returning to Australia after the games he arrived one week before the Johnson-Burns fight. He was agreed upon by both contestants as referee for the fight, but didn't officiate when it occurred. UNSTAMPED MAIL.

"Some postmasters either read the newspapers for their orders or fail to interpret correctly the English of the postoffice department. When the European method of forwarding un-stamped mail to the addressee was adopted in the United States, recently, the intent at Washington was to make it apply only to mail going out of the country. Here and there a postmaster, possibly under the influence of his own approval of a device that would save him the trouble of forwarding a notice and awaiting a reply, immediately put it in force in his establishment as to all mail, domestic as well as foreign. Newspapers are understood to have taken a similar view of the government's intention. Both are being informed with all possible speed that they were traveling faster than even the present progressive administration of postal affairs," says the Christian Science Monitor.

"The blunder may be turned to account by raising the question why the rule for foreign mail should not be applied to all. The present practise is slow and clumsy, now that we think of it. The unstamped letter stays fast in the custody of the postoffice that received it. A correspondence opens with the addressee, who is informed that a letter addressed to him lacks the necessary postage. Will he please return stamps that are necessary for the letter, enclosing them in an envelope on which full letter postage must be placed. There might be a slower method. The matter might be referred to Washington, with request that the president issue a proclamation that a letter had been mailed without a stamp. But the delay now customary is ample to suit all possible requirements."

"The European way commands itself. The letter goes forward and is delivered upon the payment of double postage, a visiting of the penalty upon the wrong person, to be sure, but avoiding the delay and the possible loss of value in the communication. Apprehension of a return to the old way of collecting postage, through the possibility that senders would make a convenience of the new arrangement, is hardly warranted. Polite correspondence that came with a collection charge of 4 cents would not thrive long. Business houses would hardly resort to it in their effort to retain favor with their customers. The remainder of an unpaid account would simply fail of delivery if the debtor addressed had the ordinary perception of the contents of the proffered letter. Really there is no seemingly reasonable chance that payment would go out of fashion. And the unintended omission of postage would not be the cause of delay and annoyance."

"The postmasters who broadened the rule in their eagerness may, after all, have done a service."

MEXICO AGAIN.
President Wilson has still the same policy of watching and waiting with which he opened his administration. Thus far the watching has been on the part of the federals and rebels to catch some American unawares, loot him of all his earthly belongings and then shoot him down like a dog. The waiting by the Wilson administration has at last caused England to step in, calls the attitude of the United States most servile, demands that it take steps to rectify the wrongs done English subjects in Mexico, and laughs at the so-called Monroe Doctrine. Well, maybe Uncle Sam will have a word to say after Brother Bryan drinks his grape-juice cocktail and Woodrow Wilson revises the last sheets on his book on how to run the government.

SLOWING UP.
Evidently the democratic administration are slowing up in their appointments of postmasters throughout the country, particularly in Rock county. Not only are the Evansville, Milton and Janesville postoffices now officially vacant, but no successors have been named to fill their places. In Janesville it is expected that J. J. Cunningham will take the job as soon as he can arrange his personal business affairs, but the other two seem to be bothering the administration to fill. However, never fear, the list will be full to overflowing when the proper time comes and that is when Arlward gets his nomination for United States senator. Meanwhile, watch and wait will be the program.

TAXES AGAIN.
One hears so much of taxes these days they get tired of the mere suggestion, but still it is a question that will not be downed. The meeting, a week ago, demonstrated the tone of the Rock county taxpayers at least, and despite all efforts of the Beloit News Press to belittle the gathering, it was an assemblage of men who were in dead earnest regardless of political belief. The question of taxes can only be settled at the polls next fall. The only way to do this is to name the best men possible for the legislative offices. Think it over and see if the problem is not right.

MORE DELAY.
England is apparently demanding that Uncle Sam go to war with Mexico at once. England might just as well understand first as last that when Uncle Sam goes to war he means business. He did so in '76, he travelled the same route in '81, and took Mexico into camp in '83, and fought it out in '81 to '84 with its southern brothers, and again in '98 told Spain where to get off at. True, the last trouble was not worthy of consideration, but just the same it demonstrated the spirit that pervades the whole country. Uncle Sam has learned a lesson. He will not start anything he can not finish, and he will not start until he is ready. Consequently the delay.

NAME BEST MEN.
There are six candidates for commissioner in the field. In the primary fight all the Gazette says is to name the best man for the office so the voters on April seventh will have a fair choice to make. The Gazette has no axe to grind but wants to see the best man possible elected for the office. It is up to the electors.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

LIKE CHAMPIONS.

You may not be a champion in your profession or business or sport, but you can bear yourself like a champion.

This is not to say that you are to vaunt yourself on your superiority to others or brag about your achievements. Real champions do not do so. They wear their honors modestly and quietly, but firmly.

There is virtue in the conception that the mind has an influence on the body. So, if you feel and act like a champion, perhaps you will come to be one in time.

"One can almost tell by watching them walk into a hotel that they are champions. They are clean, decent living, gentlemanly fellows. In baseball, morals and intellect are quite as important as physical prowess."

Yes, and Hugh S. Fullerton, writing thus of the Philadelphia Athletics, champions of baseball, might have added, "as they are in other fields of endeavor."

There is a certain mark set on the brow by success in any line of honest endeavor. It cannot be imitated, but it can be emulated. In other words, you can try to look like a champion and carry yourself like one without bragging, without "bluffing."

Much depends on the bearing of a person.

As you take yourself, so will others take you. If you have little merit or desert and express it in your appearance, so shall you be judged.

If you know yourself to be worthy of respect, whatever your temporary standing in the world, and show it in your bearing, others will respect you. The influence is from within you, not from without.

I read the history of the world and the biographies of its great men and women. Almost invariably you will find tributes by contemporaries to the light that shone in the eyes of the famous and the ease and distinction of their bearing. That is what is meant by "looking like champions."

We cannot all be champions, of course. It is true that there is room at the top, as the old saying has it, but the way thereto is long and bard, and many there be who fall by the wayside.

But all along the way, from the lowest steps to the highest, you will find that those who are striving most earnestly to reach the summit and those who are destined to breathe the thin, rare air that is there bear themselves well and nobly.

English People Long-Lived.
Within a stone's throw of each other at Stóham Parva, Suffolk, England, live 28 persons whose ages aggregate 2,121 years. One is ninety, two eighty-two, one eighty-one, four eighty, one seventy-eight, one seventy-six, three seventy-five, four seventy-four, six seventy-three, three seventy-two, one sixty-nine, and one sixty-eight.

Daily Thought.
No thought which ever stirred a human breast should be untold—Robert Browning.

GLORIOUS HAIR

Always Attracts—Use Parisian Sage. Thin or Faded Hair Becomes Abundant and Radiant With Life.

Girls and women of all ages want to be charming, beautiful and attractive—it's their birthright—but unsightly, thin and lifeless hair destroys half the beauty of a pretty face.

If your hair is not attractive, is falling out, streaky, full of dandruff, too dry, or if the scalp itches and burns, don't delay—use Parisian Sage. Rub it well into the scalp. It will go right to the hair roots, nourish them, and stimulate the hair to grow strong and luxuriant. Parisian Sage removes dandruff with one application and cleanses the hair of dirt, dust and excessive oil.

Parisian Sage gives the hair just what is needed to make it soft, fluffy, thick and gloriously radiant. It is sold in fifty cent bottles only by Smith Drug Co. and at all drug and toilet counters. Look for the trade-mark "The Girl with the Auburn Hair." Accept no substitute.

APPOINT COMMITTEES AT SPECIAL MEETING

Janesville Ministers Make Big Preparations for Go-to-Church Sunday at Session Today.

The Janesville ministers met in a special session this afternoon at two o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. building, where committees were appointed and further plans formulated for Go-to-Church Sunday, which will be on April 26th.

On the fund raising committee, Rev. J. C. Hazel of the Baptist church was elected chairman, with two laymen to be appointed at a later date as other members. The advertising committee was composed of Rev. T. D. Williams of the Methodist church, chairman, Rev. George Edwin Parlise of the Presbyterian church, and five laymen to be appointed later. The subject to be treated on Go-to-Church Sunday will be announced at the Union Men's Brotherhood banquet to be held Friday evening, March 13th.

New Sanitary Device.

Water used in sprinkling the streets of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has with it a certain amount of chloride mixture by which it is hoped to check the spread of infectious diseases. The experiment will be continued long enough to determine the value of the scheme, and if any material benefit is observable this disinfection of the streets will be continued.

A Perfect Store

This Big Store is a composite of all that's good!

You've noticed that where a store is good in one thing it falls short of perfection in other respects. If prices happen to be low, its stock, nine cases out of ten, is either poor, old or very limited. If its stock is fine and extensive it usually asks high prices. If it isn't one thing it is another, and the perfect store—the one combining features the modern store should have—is a rare exception

WATCHFULNESS: A TEMPERANCE LESSON. (The Story.)

Form of statement in this instance could not be better suited to thought conveyed. This challenge to alertness is well-aimed. It is a marvel of consciousness. There is not a superfluous particle. Ninety-nine percent, but in spite of brevity, the meaning is far from scamped. In the Orient there is nothing to correspond to our police patrol. Each separate house must needs be a little fortress of which the servants are the garrison. Security depends upon their fidelity and efficiency. The return of the master of the house at dead of night is a test. If the lights have smoldered or gone out, if the master must knock repeatedly, if he hears the servants running about to put things up before opening, then he knows they have been unfaithful, and that all his possessions have been in danger. On the entrance, if the door swings open instantly at his first knock, and garments are tucked up under the girdele at the loins, so that quick action shall not be impeded and well-trimmed lights greet him—these are the sure tokens of instant fidelity which he can not fail to note. For very joy he will make a Saturnal of it, sealing his loyal servants at the very table they had prepared for him, and serving them in person. The parable of the "Master of the House" is the briefest of the thirty-three parables Jesus spoke. A single verse of thirty-three words suffices. It respects the proprietor himself as not perpetually watchful and consequently suffering from an incursion of robbers. The hour of whose arrival could not by any means have been divined. This Jesus declares to be a similitude of his own return, and exhorts to instant watchfulness. In the last of the three parables it is as if the Master were saying, "Look on this picture and now on that." The head steward is no dull, mean, but an executive officer, trusted with the conduct of the whole establishment. If he is wise and faithful he will be promoted from care of domestics and their rations to care of income and its investment. But if a little power puts the steward up so that he domineers the employees and becomes a glutton and a tippler, it would be a short shift for him.

THE TEACHER'S LANTERN.

"Girded and lighted," nothing could be more significant of readiness. A line from Milton seems appropriate in this connection. "His habit fit for speed succinct," "tucked up, end of robe under girdele." There is subtle connection between concentration and brilliancy. "Gird up and you will shine." "Thief in the night" has passed into a proverb of unreadiness. Great are the gains of fidelity. How well saved must those be whom Jesus sees! His long pent-up love will rush out in some expression which will delight his soul for eternity. "Gird and serve" an all-inclusive phrase, indicating that the Master is wholly at disposal of his faithful disciples. Jesus did not answer Peter's impudent question except by uttering another parable that was pertinent. "Who then, is the faithful and wise?" Question of questions! Destiny turns on this. History teems with instances of those who have been seduced by power. One must be well balanced and alert not to fall prey to it. The three parables illustrate the simplicity of Jesus' teaching. Nothing could be more familiar than these domestic references. The personal "Second Coming" of Jesus, like everything that relates to the "Last Things," is largely a speculative matter. What concerns most is that life is a period of probation at best brief, and terminates any moment. It is of supreme importance that the most be made of its opportunities. Uncertainty calls for diligence. Even so, the present does not call out all possible latent capabilities. It is a test of fidelity, proving whether one is entitled to a larger sphere. Incidentally, here is suggestion, if not proof, of immortality—a continued life, the reward of which will be an enlarged sphere in which power here evolved may there be employed.

The golden age does not come by clock or almanac. It is an living now in proportion to the development of individual and social rectitude.

"PEG O' MY HEART."

Oliver Morosco will send J. Hartley Manners' exquisite comedy "Peg O' My Heart" to the Myers Theater, Thursday, March 19.

So much that is good has been said of this New York success in the metropolitan papers and magazines that a detailed description is not necessary. Suffice to say that popularity of the show is largely due to its freedom from the slightest suspicion of the uncouth or sensational. "Peg" is portrayed by Florence Martin and her interpretation of the character is one of the most loving and artistic imaginable. The little Irish girl brimful of wit, which flows from her rosy lips as the crystal water from a spring, "Peg" tells a story that made old Manhattan, staid and blase, forget the more sensational attractions for this beautiful story of refreshing youth.

False Teachers and Teaching

By REV. WILLIAM EVANS, D. D.
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—I John, Chapter 4.

According to the Bible, the teaching of false doctrine is to characterize the last days. Jesus, Paul, Peter and John constantly teach this truth. The importance of this warning is enhanced when we consider that the issue at stake is the soul of man.

The church is under obligation to test the teachings and doctrines offered to her, for there always have been, and always will be, men who are desirous to utter any new fancy that seizes them, or to dispute any accepted doctrine of faith which they themselves are not willing to accept. There is need of caution, therefore, against a too ready acceptance of any prophet or teacher. Sincerity in a teacher is not sufficient; earnestness and fervor are no guarantee of the truth of the message delivered; perspiration is not inspiration, and it is not a sufficient ground of acceptance of a man to simply say, "He believes what he preaches."

Fortunately, it is possible for the true Christian to make such discernment. Paul, in 1 Cor. 12, and John, in his first epistle, second chapter, clearly state this fact. It may be true that some Christians have the gift of the discernment of spirits in a special way; it is nevertheless true that all Christians may be able to discern the false from the true.

Not only is such a test possible, but it is obligatory. A careful study of the seven letters in the book of Revelation enforces this truth. In apostolic days false teachers "went out" from the church, but in these days they "stay in" the church when oftentimes they should be put out. We should be careful lest in our attempts to be hospitable to all truth we entertain the devil unawares.

In the chapter we are considering, the apostle tells us that the point to be proven about teachers is, "Are they of God?" That means from whence is their message derived, from God or from the world. Satan is an imitator. He has a church (Rev. 2:9); a ministry (2 Cor. 11:13); a membership (1 John 3:10); and gives power to work signs (2 Thess. 2:9).

The proof that a man's teaching is divine in its origin is settled by his attitude towards Jesus Christ (4:2,6). In all things he must hold to the Head (Col. 4:9). Names and sects and parties fall; Jesus Christ is all in all. All professing Christian teaching must be judged by its relation to Jesus Christ.

Belief in the incarnation or Virgin birth is a sign that a man's teaching is from God (4:2,3; 6:1). There must be the belief that the historical Jesus is the anointed Savior of the world; this fact of history must be also fact of faith.

There can be no dodging this question: "Jesus is anathema" or else "Jesus is Lord." We may make all the progress in the doctrines of Christ possible, but we must be careful that our progress is in the truth, and not away from the truth. There is an advance, even in the doctrine of Christ, which is not progress but apostasy (2 John 9).

The next point to be settled with regard to Christ is the acceptance of his Deity (2:18-28; 4:5, 15, 16; 5:5, 20). True Christian doctrine acknowledges Jesus Christ not merely as Divine, but as Deity, and as such he is worshipped. The Babe in Bethlehem's manger was God manifest in the flesh, in him dwelt all the fullness of the Godhead. That teaching is false which separates the Christ from Jesus. "This is he that came by water and by blood"—these words deny that teaching which states that some form of Deity came on Christ at his baptism and left him at the cross. Jesus Christ cannot be divided; he is "the same, yesterday, today and forever."

It is vital that a teacher from God be sound with regard to the nature of the redemptive work of Christ. John is emphatic about this (compare 2:1,2; 3,5, 4:9,10,14; 5:6). Jesus Christ gave his life as a ransom for our sins; we are reconciled to God by the death of his son; Jesus Christ is the propitiation for our sins; he is the Savior of the world. All this means that Jesus Christ took our place and our sins upon himself, that his death was in our stead. It is not enough to say that Christ's death exerted a moral influence upon mankind, or that it was an example of self-sacrificing love, or even that God needed, by such a tragedy, to give the world an illustration of his anger against sin. Of course, Christ's death is the supreme manifestation of God's love, and it does show his anger towards sin, but it goes further than that. It has a relation to the sin of man. Christ in his death paid the wages of sin; the atonement settles the question of sin's guilt and redemption: "Who, his own self, bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness; by whose stripes ye are healed."

STATE BOARD PLANS TO TEST CONVICTS AS ROAD BUILDERS

Board of Control Prepares to Make Experiment With Prison Labor in Constructing Highways.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 6.—If the cities of Waupun and Chester and the intervening towns on the road connecting the two places co-operate, the first state highway to be constructed by the use of prison labor will be used to build the roads to the tuberculosis camp near Tomahawk and also some roads within the forestry reserve. At the meeting of the state board of control this week considerable time was spent discussing the subject and the board today gave out the following official statement:

Colorado Method.

"The first movement towards the employment of convicts on highways grew out of an appointment by Gov. McGovern of a member of the state board of control as a delegate to the National Good Roads convention held at Pueblo, Colo., in January, 1912, with a special direction to study Colorado's method.

"The first movement towards the employment of convicts on highways corresponds to the first grade in the public schools, and those in it are learning the alphabet, with the dream of learning to read and write spurring them on to hard grades in the public schools.

"The work is not compulsory and is done after work hours on three days of the week. About a third of the prisoners requested permission to take the work. Their deportment in the school room has been good and their eagerness to learn gratifying to their instructors.

"We also determined at the first opportunity to recommend to the legislature the enactment of a law which would permit the employment of convicts on highways. The board believed it advisable to co-operate with the highway commission, which was done.

"A bill was drafted and recommended to the legislature of 1913 for passage. It had the unanimous approval of the board of control and of the Wisconsin Highway commission.

The bill, as recommended and passed, provided for an appropriation of $25,000.

"Whatever work done was to be under the direction of the state board of control and the highway department jointly.

"The bill also provided for the investigating of stone quarries and gravel pits of the state, determining such as may be convenient and available for the employment of convicts. It has been the opinion of the board of control and of the highway commission that work ever may be done pursuant to the provisions of this act should be done in an experimental way; that the conditions in Wisconsin as to climate and road material are such that the experience of other states cannot be taken as final. Whether or not road building by convicts will be successful can be determined only by experiment. It is not within the knowledge of any man to say that it will be successful or unsuccessful.

Indeterminate Sentence.

"Believing that to make the employment of convicts on highways successful it is necessary that we have the indeterminate sentence law, such as other states have, where convict operation has been successful, the board prepared and had submitted to the legislature an indeterminate sentence law.

"This, however, was defeated.

"We are now of the opinion that the pronostication can never meet with the best success until an indeterminate sentence law is passed; that the good convict may have some reward to work for and the bad conviction some extra punishment for violation of his word of honor.

"Ever since the passage of the law the board and the highway commission have been under consideration plans for the employment of convicts.

"We have concluded that they are to be employed on highways.

"The first highway to receive consideration should be the road leading from the city of Waupun to Chester, provided that the authorities of the city of Waupun and the adjoining towns show sufficient cooperation to warrant the experiment being made on this road.

"All shipments of bindertwine via Northwestern must be hauled over this road by team.

"We also have in mind the employment of convicts on the highways leading to the tubercular camp from the Tomahawk Lake station on the Northwestern road and from Hazenhurst station on the Milwaukee road in Oneida county; also the employment of convicts on highways within the forest reserve and the park regions of the state of Wisconsin.

"The work on all roads will depend, however, upon the progress which is made in completing the work to be done at the Women's Reformatory at Taycheedah, Fond du Lac county.

Convicts on Building.

"At the time that the board of control asked for an appropriation of $25,000 for the building of a women's reformatory they had at the same time in mind the employment of convicts in doing the preliminary work in building the necessary buildings, such as crushing rock, building roads, tunnels, sewers and the foundations of such buildings as were provided for in that appropriation.

"This work is being planned at the present time, and as soon as weather conditions will permit, convicts will be placed on the site at Taycheedah to do the preparatory work.

"When that is completed, these convicts will be available for road work in other portions of the state.

"Convicts on outside work will be under direct charge and supervision of an officer of the state prison.

"It is contemplated that such officer shall be recommended by the highway commission and shall have engineering skill and ability to lay out highways and control a camp of from thirty to forty convicts. The men to be employed in the convict camp will be selected by the officers of the Wisconsin state prison. The board of control has determined that under no consideration will convicts be leased to employers, such as other estates have done, but that all times they shall be under the supervision of the state.

START NIGHT CLASSES IN NEBRASKA PRISON WITH GRADED SYSTEM.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Lincoln, Neb., March 6.—Under the supervision of State Superintendent of Schools, the night school at the Nebraska penitentiary has just been reorganized, and for the first time in the history of the institution the classes today are on a basis similar to those in the graded schools, and to those in the public schools, and the convict pupils are striving to gain admission to the grades above them.

There are six grades or divisions, the last one including those men whose former learning has fitted them for high school or college work.

The lowest grade corresponds to the first grade in the public schools, and those in it are learning the alphabet, with the dream of learning to read and write spurring them on to hard grades in the public schools.

The work is not compulsory and is done after work hours on three days of the week.

At the THEATER

HOWE'S PICTURES.

If "Peace hath her victories no less than those of War," the construction of the Panama Canal may truly be considered the greatest victory of all times. The world at large rightly regards it as the most heroic and prodigious victory won by any nation in any era. How this immortal victory was won by Americans will be shown by Lyman H. Howe at the Myers Theater, two days and matinee, on March 12 and 13 in a film reproduction of absolutely perfect photography.

GIANT BLAST OF SIX TONS OF DYNAMITE IN CULEBRA CUT - ONE OF THE THRILLS IN LYMAN H. HOWE'S REPRODUCTION OF THE PANAMA CANAL.

As such, Mr. Howe's film is now universally recognized as being just as much a crowning achievement in a photographic sense as the Canal itself is as the newest and greatest of all "World-wonders." Interest in these scenes is intensified not only because of their timeliness, but by the fact that Mr. Howe is the exhibitor. For that, of course, is an absolute guarantee of a notable reproduction. Mr. Howe has chosen wisely in presenting this subject just at the moment of the completion of the Canal when tens of thousands of workmen and hundreds of officers are preparing to scatter to their homes in all parts of the world. From every standpoint the film is invaluable. As a "human document" showing the grit, energy, enterprise, skill, patience, endurance, ingenuity and organization of the army of workmen will include many other big new features.

APOLLO THEATRE.

The L. Petitiro, Francis and Madeline Murray, is the featured act at the Apollo the last part of the week. These little entertainers are aged nine and seven years respectively. Francis is a fine looking little gentleman who sings and dances like a bean sprout. Madeline is a sweet, coy, little thing, highly talented and decidedly attractive.

The pair open with a song, "A Bad Dad Boy and a Good, Good Girl" and immediately charm their audience.

TRAMP AT OSHKOSH HAS NEW WARDROBE SYSTEM; WASHING IS TOO COLD

Special to the Gazette.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 6.—John McCarthy who recently visited in this city thought he had solved the problem of carrying an extensive wardrobe without the use of many trunks. Inasmuch as Mr. McCarthy travels largely on foot he hated to carry many parcels. Therefore all his clothing was on his back.

McCarthy claims he has slept out of door almost every night this winter. However when he reached this city the night was cold and he applied at the city police station for shelter. To the consternation of all it was found to be a man of tremendous strength. One peculiarity was that the size of his face and hands was out of proportion to the enormous bulk of the man. With the promise of new apparel he was persuaded to disrobe and the officers discovered the secret of his size.

His clothing consisted of the remnants of eight pairs of trousers, an overcoat, five coats, two caps and three pairs of shoes.

He confessed that he had not bathed or washed his face and hands for four months because of the cold.

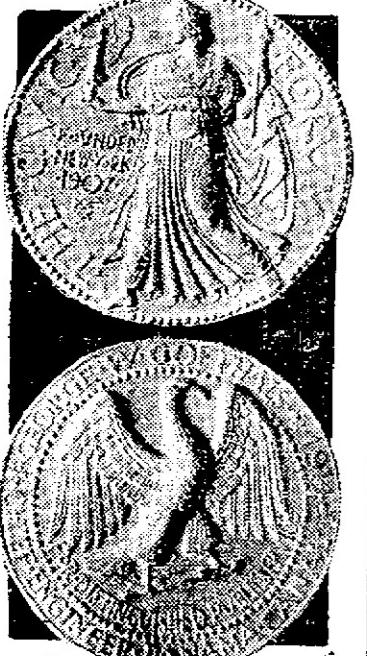

Surely the Limit.

A Kankakee editor says he thinks this is the best story he has seen in print for several years: A young clergyman was complaining to a friend that his congregation was made up of tightwads. "They are so stingy," he said, "that when I ask them to sing 'Old Hundred' they sing 'The Ninety and Nine.'"

Punctuality.

Lord Nelson said: "I owe all my success in life to having been a quarter of an hour before my time." Punctuality is the politeness of kings, the duty of gentlemen, the necessity of business men."—Orison Swett Marden.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

RUTS.

THE OTHER day a friend of mine accompanied me on a two-mile cross-town walk which I very frequently have occasion to take. "Why do you walk on this side of the street?" she asked me, when I made a certain crossing. "The other side is better walking and more direct, too."

"Why we always do walk on this side," I answered, "I don't know why." And then, having had my attention called to the matter, I realized that I had slipped into the habit of automatically and unreasoningly making certain crossings and walking on this or that side of the street as if it had a chalk line course to follow.

If there is any similar walk that you have taken a great many times, I fancy you will find that you travel in the same automatic, unvarying way. That is, if you are my old friend, the average man or woman. For it seems to me that this is a common manifestation of one of the common tendencies of common people—the propensity for getting into a rut.

It is very easy, as everyone who has had any experience with ruts, knows, to get into them. It is very hard to get out of them.

For one reason, people seldom realize they are in a rut. Take the case of Mrs. Housekeeper. She has a certain round of food which she serves up to her family. It includes certain common dishes and others which belong, as it were, in the family. She almost never varies this.

Now by comparing notes with the woman next door, or the woman she meets at church or in her club, and finding out what their special family dishes are, or by trying out new recipes from the newspapers or magazines or cook books, she might vary her regular round and make her menu less monotonous and hence more appetizing and healthful.

But she doesn't realize that she is in a rut; or if she does she is too inert to try to get out of it.

"Why am I doing things just this way?"

"How are other people doing the same things?"

"Isn't there some way I can do them better?"

These are three questions that I think we ought to ask ourselves every once in a while about all the activities of our lives.

It was always an accepted tradition of the railroad world that the accident claim should total about 7% of an average railroad's gross receipts.

Everybody took it for granted that events must follow that course. Then there came a railroad manager who said: "Why must they?" He studied the situation, originated a system of educating the public and the railroad men, and in seven years had reduced the cost of accidents on his road to 1.25%. All because he asked himself "why?"

Get out of the rut. Ask yourself why you are taking this and that crossing; how other people do it; and if you can't find a better way. Begin today. Find your rut and make a start towards getting out of it.

Heart and Home Problems

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I have a little thing. She will get new ideals a daughter sixteen years old, very fond of new habits with the example of the sisters before her every day. Encourage her in the music. I know one young girl who was inclined to be wild, who was reformed by her musical talent. She is now a very successful singer, highly respected and making a lot of money with her music.

(2) You are agonizing for your misfortune by living a good life now. Bring up your daughter well, make your husband happy, do all the good you can find to do, and you will be as blessed by the Lord as if you had done no wrong.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a blonde with large blue eyes and have a great many boy friends. Among them is one I have been going steady with and think a great deal of, and he says he loves me, but there is one thing about it all that troubles me very much, and that is what I want to ask you about, as you seem to be so considerate in everything. I am four years older than he, although I don't look it. Now, do you think the difference will ever mar our happiness? He wants to get married this June. I want your opinion on this. He doesn't think I should hesitate on that account.

TOPSY. I don't think you should hesitate, either, my dear, if that is the only objection to marrying a man you love and who loves you. Four years is very little difference, especially if your tastes are congenial.

(1) I think you did the best possible job.

Women Worth While.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: You advised girls to use cocoa butter to increase their bust. Should this butter be applied day and night and how often changed. How long will it be before you will find results and is it harmless?

EMMA LANE

Cocoa butter is advised because it makes a gentle massage easy and prevents bruising. Also, it is inexpensive and harmless. Any cold cream will achieve the same results. It is the massage that helps. The result is not very noticeable and it takes a long time to see any difference. You can accomplish more by deep breathing and eating nourishing food.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Kindly tell me when is the right time to wean a boy. Some say every new moon is a good time. He is fourteen months old and quite sickly.

(2) What can I feed him to get him fat? He weighs twenty-two pounds and is so slender.

A YOUNG WIFE. (1) A great doctor once told me that no baby with teeth should nurse. Your baby is old enough to be weaned, unless your doctor thinks the child is too weak to wean now. Perhaps nursing keeps him sickly. The time of the moon has no effect at all. That is simply an old superstition.

May be your baby does not get enough fresh air. Fresh air and a bath in a warm room every day are very necessary to babies. Let some fresh air into his room at night. Bundle him up well if it is cold weather, of course, but don't bundle him so tightly that he can't kick all he wants to.

(2) Ask your doctor about feeding the baby. If the child is sickly I do not like to advise you about its food.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am the eldest of three daughters. I had my cards printed as Miss Mary N. Blank. Is this correct? I am nine years old.

(2) Kindly tell me the meaning of a person making their debut. How old should one be when doing so?

(3) Can you tell me a good way to clean corsets?

A FRIEND. (1) The eldest daughter is known as Miss Blank. It would have been correct to have your cards engraved in that way. However, there is no reason why you should not use the cards as they are now.

(2) A girl formally enters society as a young lady when she makes her debut, usually at the age of eighteen.

(3) Take out the steels to prevent their rusting. Lay the corset on a table, then take a fairly stiff brush, good white soap and warm water, with a little ammonia. Then scrub the corsets on both sides. Then rinse in warm water with a little ammonia, then fit clear cold water and hang outdoors, dripping, to dry.

SILKS TO BE WORN FOR SPRING STYLE; LACES FOR SUMMER

Heelless Sandals Latest Rage of Paris Fashion Followers—Other Fashion Notes.

(By Margaret Mason.)

New York, March 6.—Monkey jackets and boleros are now around and about every fashionable figure and about as gay as you apt the fashions you most like. One prefers to black velvet they are worn over transparent blouses with long baggy sleeves of net but if you wish to carry them out in the material of the rest of your costume they are equally smart. Over blouses of brilliantly hued and weirdly designed broder silks they are very effective and enhance the Oriental and bizarre tout ensemble.

When a black velvet belero is worn over a flesh colored chiffon waist the effect is just a trifle startling to say the least and while it certainly shows good form it hardly fits. However all the combinations have not this sideshow effect and many charming contrasts and changes in your wardrobe may be sprung with the aid of a bolero and a net blouse of two.

The craze for sleeves of different materials from the rest of the gown is gaining in popularity and tight fitting sleeves of lace, net or chiffon as well as the long loose baggy sleeves of the same materials are seen in many of the newest model gowns.

Angel sleeves showing all the characteristics of fool sleeves are trying desperately to rush in where they are not wanted and although they have succeeded in attaching themselves to a few model evening gowns they have not been received with enough favor to warrant many of them.

Even as the Spring is a silken season so the summer promises to be a lacey one. Most exquisite are the patterns evolved in the lace designers and the borders on the fine not founded are in many instances worthy of a frame.

A decided novelty in the lace line is colored lace. That is, the net foundation is of a bright shade of blue, green, cerise or yellow with the elaborate worked-out border done in white threads on the colored background.

Boleros and monkey jackets of lace also are very pretty, especially in the heavier laces like macrame.

Puffs are the latest and newest form the tunics and frills have taken, and few and far between are the dainty silken frocks that are free from a bouffant puffing from the waistline to just show below the hips.

So soft and filmy are the new taffetas (and they are positively the material for Spring) that the puff is as soft and airy and pliable as you could wish. It clings to the lines of the figure without the least bit of a thickening bulky tendency and the smart 1914 Spring maid would as soon think of being without her puff dress as without her puff.

Pinking now seems to be the pink of perfection as a finish for the frills, ruchings and ruffles that adorn the taffeta frocks and mantles.

By the way, the mantles and delaines and capes of taffeta in queer dull shades like dress of wine, sage green, ashes of roses, and Gobelin are made with ruffles or ruching, their edges either pinked or fringed, outlining the mantles entirely. They are delightfully quaint and artistic as well as practical to slip over the fluffy frock of the moment.

In Paris where the maitinines have been on parade through the early days of Spring at the slossions of all the selected fashion courtoisies they have done their parading in heelless sandals of black velvet laced up over white or flesh colored silk hose in the mode of the Empire. As most American beauties would as soon part with their souls as their heels it will be interesting to watch the new fad which is on foot to see just how soon or whether at all it gets a toehold in our midst.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING. Substitute for Cream in Coffee. Beat the white of an egg to a froth, add a small lump of butter and turn the coffee into it gradually so it will not curdle. It is difficult to distinguish from fresh cream and can be prepared in a few minutes.

To take away the offensive odor

EVERYDAY TALKS FOR EVERYDAY PEOPLE

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

Too many of our Americans are idle. Their days are listlessly spent, they are "indisposed" today, tomorrow they will accomplish something worth while, yet when tomorrow merges into today, their indisposition is applicable to the new day.

Our Mexican neighbors say always "manana." Are we on the same plane with them in this respect? We are the most active, the most strenuous race on the globe, is manana getting to be our slogan?

Philosopher Socrates told us that tomorrow never comes. As it would take most half the albatross after him to tell us how many degrees he could boast were he living today, his statement can be taken as good.

With the new day mother says, "Mary, you must practice two hours today to make up for the time lost yesterday." Mary is imbued with the spirit of the times. "Wait until tomorrow, mother, I just can't drum up enough enthusiasm to pound out those exercises today." Tomorrow never comes, so Mary loses out through her ability to dodge work.

We make the mistake, many of us, of thinking that we have to be in trim for our work. It is not a bad habit by any means to buckle right down to our tasks without wasting time or inspiration. If some of us worked as hard doing things as we do in trying to dodge our tasks, there would be more successful men and women lining the highways of life.

To be patient and to plot is the thing. To have the right kind of grit, the kind that makes you willing to begin at the bottom and work up. So many of us want to begin way up the ladder. We insist on this, as we are too big for a small job. Presently we find ourselves working down 'cause we started higher than we were able to.

Of course to be a plodder is not at all what we want to be. We want a "pull" to land us a "good thing." We forget that pull may land a man a job but that push is necessary to keep him in the impatiently eager to mount the heights is not quite the wisest plan on tap.

From the cradle up we have the spirit of putting off things, of wanting to have without striving. What if we start all over again, today, and GET TO WORK?

Household Hints

Substitute for Cream in Coffee.

Beat the white of an egg to a froth, add a small lump of butter and turn the coffee into it gradually so it will not curdle. It is difficult to distinguish from fresh cream and can be prepared in a few minutes.

To take away the offensive odor of cabbage and sauerkraut, tie a string on the chandelier and light the string; let it burn slowly. You will never know cabbage was cooking.

To hold rug in place in the middle of the room and yet allow it to be easily taken up and shaken, drive brass-headed nails into the floor at each corner and midway between the corners. Sew brass rings on the rug and hook over these when in place.

THE TABLE.

Sardine Salad—Drain the oil from a box of sardines and squeeze three drops of lemon juice on each fish.

Lay crisp lettuce leaves in iced water for half an hour, then shake free of moisture and lay a chilled plate on top. Open leaf lay a sardine and spoon on this pour a spoonful of thick mayonnaise dressing. Garnish the edge of the platter with cold boiled beets cut into star shapes. Serve with crackers and cream cheese.

Brides' Cake—Cream together three cups of sugar and one scant cupful of butter, adding the sugar a little at a time. Add one cupful of milk. Sift thoroughly three cupfuls of flour, three teaspoonsfuls of baking powder and one cupful of cornstarch. Beat very light the whites of twelve eggs. To the egg and sugar mixture add the sifted flour and last of all, the beaten whites of the twelve eggs. Flavor to taste. Stir all together thoroughly. Pour into well buttered and floured tins. Bake slowly in a moderate oven.

German Almond Cookies—Yolks of six eggs, one and a half cupfuls of sugar, three-quarters of a cupful of butter, one cupful of almonds, chopped; one tablespoonful of cinnamon; three cupfuls of flour. Beat well, drop small spoonfuls on a well-greased pan and bake lightly.

Omelet—Two and one-half tablespoonsfuls of flour, three-quarters teaspoonfuls of salt, one cup of milk, three eggs, three tablespoonsfuls of butter. Mix the salt and flour and add the milk gradually. Beat the eggs until thick and lemon-colored, then add to the first mixture. Heat the iron frying pan and put in two-thirds of butter; when the butter is melted, pour in the mixture. As it cooks, lift with a griddle-pan turner so that the uncooked part runs underneath and the remaining butter is needed and continue lifting the cooked part until it is firm throughout. Place on a hot part of the range to brown; roll and turn on a hot platter.

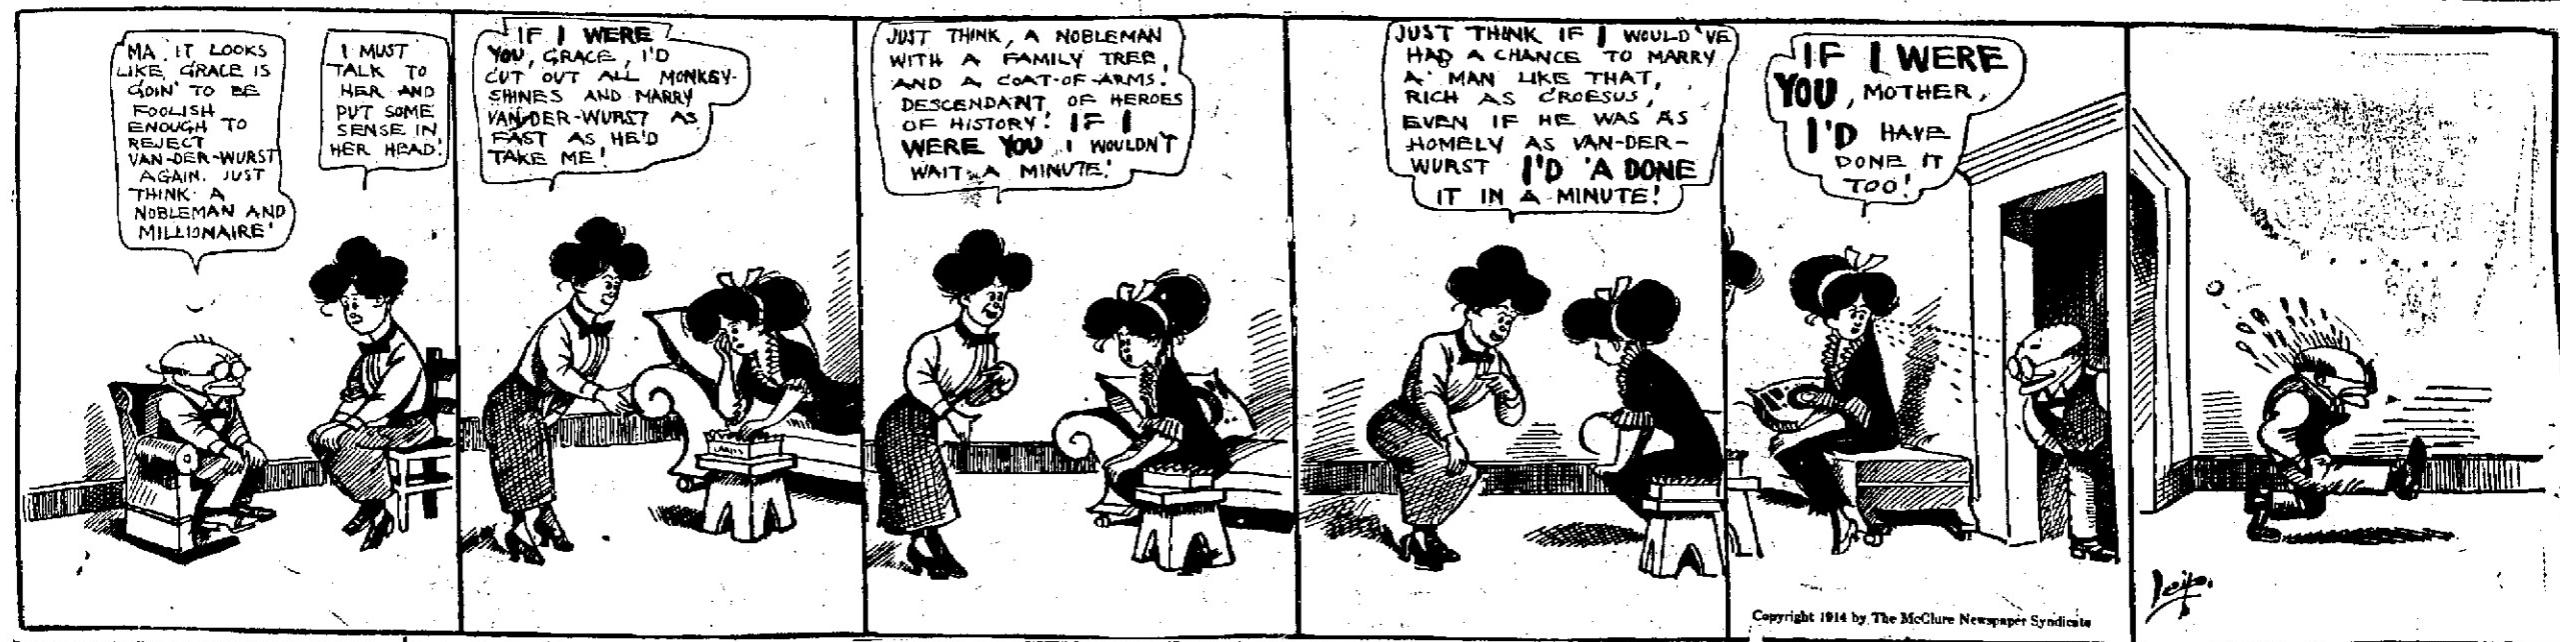

Violin Notes Attract Mosquitoes.

In some parts of India, where mosquitos abound, it is impossible to play the violin because the music attracts the insects in great numbers.

When the first notes are heard the mosquitoes swarm in clouds around the player and make the movements of the hand impossible.

Illuminating Tunnel.
An ingenious way of illuminating a tunnel has been devised by a Parisian inventor. Reflectors throw the light from many electric lamps sixteen feet above the rails to the sides of the tunnel, where it is again reflected by burnished tin, giving a soft and agreeable light. The trains automatically turn the current on and off when entering and leaving the tunnel.

Swell Corns? Try Wonderful "GETS-It."

Greatest Corn-Cure World Has Ever Known. "Gets" Corns Sure as Fat.

Thousands say "GETS-IT" is simply magic. If you've tried nearly everything under the sun to get rid of those corns, so much the better for "GETS-IT." Corn freedom is yours at last, not next week or next month, but right now! "GETS-IT" goes after corns as a crow does corn. There are no more thick plasters and greasy salves that don't remove, no more files, razors and jammers that make corns grow. Put a few drops of "GETS-IT" on and see every corn and callus vanish! This is the new way—the simple, sure, safe, quick way. Only "GETS-IT" can do it. Apply it in 3 seconds.

Every druggist in the land sells "GETS-IT". 25 cents a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

HOW A BROOKLYN GIRL

Got Strong and Well Again.

Grace D. Lamb of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I was all run-down and on the verge of nervous prostration. I could not sleep for pain in my back. In all I was a wreck. A friend told me what Vinol had done for her little girl so I tried it. I noticed an improvement after the first bottle. I could sleep well, my appetite improved, and after taking three bottles I am strong and well again."

Vinol is the most efficient strength creator for such women. It is the medicinal elements of the cod's livers contained in Vinol aided by the blood making and strengthening properties of tonic iron which makes it so far superior to all other tonics to help up health and strength for weak, tired, ailing women. It contains no oil and has a delicious taste. We give back your money if Vinol does not do all that we claim. Smith Drug Co., Druggists, Janesville, Wis. P. S. If you have any skin trouble try Saks Salve. We guarantee it.

Many Recoveries From Lung Trouble

A medicine for Throat and Lung Troubles which has been thoroughly tested for many years, and which has been instrumental in restoring complete health to a large number of patients, has been thoroughly investigated by everyone. While no undue claims are made for it, nor any guarantee that its use will restore health, Eckman's Alternative has given the best credit in curing lung trouble in the past. Read this case:

Wilmington, Del.—Gentlemen: In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician and the leading practitioners of Wilmington, Del., said it was lung trouble. I took eggs and milk in quantities, but I got very weak. Mr. C. A. Applegate, of Applegate & Co., Department No. 300, 324 Market street, Wilmington, Del., recommended to me Eckman's Alternative, that had done great good, and upon his suggestion I began taking it at once. This was about June, 1908, and continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally recovered, clearing of the lungs. I have now no trouble with my lungs. I firmly believe Eckman's Alternative saved my life.

(Addressed to Dr. J. C. Ayer Co., 100 S. Congress St., Worcester, Mass.)

Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be more efficacious than any other throat and lung preparation. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries from Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Coughs, colds and in upbuilding the system.

Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries from Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., the evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.
